

What's Happening @ Louisburg Library

Teen Summer Reading: June 15-July 24, 2009

Thursday Nights

(6-12 grade)

Make Your Avatar • Make a CD/DVD • Graffiti
And so much more...

T.A.G. Meeting: 1st Tuesday of the Month at 4pm @Louisburg Library

Not Pictured: Kala

Brad

Brandi

Erica

Brooke

Kaelee

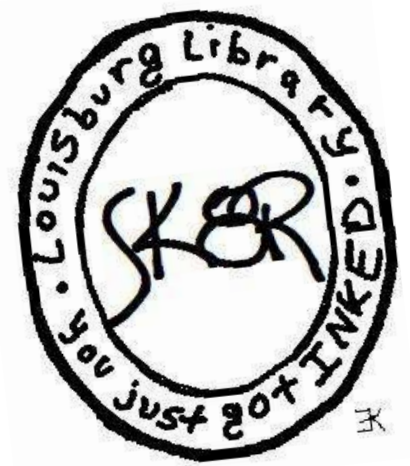

Interview with Cullen Hood

Teen Photography

Writing

Fine Art

Kelsie
Savannah, Mo

Hook to Confessions of a Teenager

by Hannah

"What was that sound?" Lindsey said.
"Crssh."
"Sounds...human." Sophie whispered.
I rolled my eyes. "Give yourselves up."
"Dw!" I heard Connor say.
All seven guys tumbled in.
"Wanna paint my toes?" Lindsey said.
"Sure!" Connor replied all too excited.
"Connor!" Hige yell/whispered
"Oh, right."

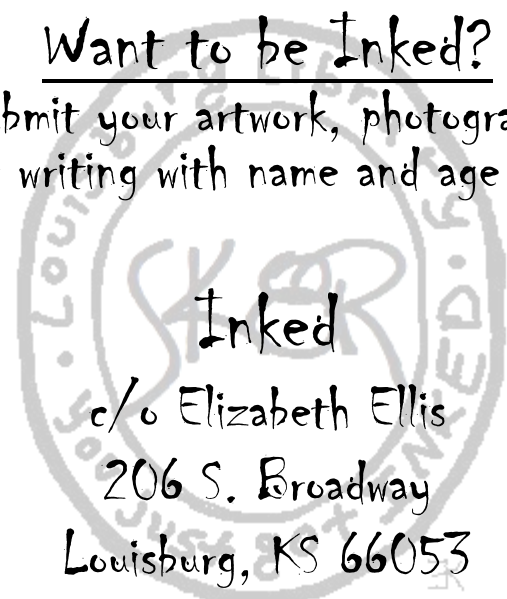

The Snake Around the Corner

by Chelsea

My family takes a vacation to Branson every year. We go to a hotel by the lake so we can go swimming and rent paddle boats. It is always fun because we go also to Silver Dollar City and Celebration City. This year was different, we decided to go to the zoo. I hate going to the zoos anyway because I have always been afraid of animals getting out. When we got there the zoo looked small, it was a small building with two dooms. We went in and the zoo smelled really bad, and it was kind of cold. We had to walk through a gift shop to get into the zoo. So we walked through and my mom said "We will look on our way out." We walked through the zoo and came to two glass door to go outside. We walked outside and there were two alligators and two crocodiles. After those reptiles we came to two more glass doors to go outside.
When we when inside it was dark and in that room everything was also a reptile we started looking around and there was dead end so I went that way. There was a really small snake in one cage and a little bit bigger snake in the other cage. The snakes in the cages kept going up in size. I ket going til the end of the end of the hall, and there was a huge snake. It looked like it could eat a human whole. So I went down the hall and I started going around the corner and there was a snake out of its cage!
When I saw the snake I was in shock, I did not say anything. When my mom saw the snake she said, "Get back." But Jacob just said, "Can I touch it?", after he said that he started wiggling around to get down. I said, "We should tell someone." So we started this whole conversation about the snake.
Jaime went a little closer and it turns out that is was just a zookeeper joking around with us. Then Jaime said, "you all are just a bunch of chickens." The zookeeper laughed and we enjoyed the rest of the zoo. We went through the gift shop on the way out and we each got something.

Want to be Inked?

Submit your artwork, photographs or writing with name and age to:

Chelsea, 8th grade

Konnor, 8th grade

Maggie, 8th grade

